Measurement and production, same fight !

Essential step in any quality approach, the measure is an element of decision-making: essential vector of performance, control of industrial risk, and credibility of production...

The 3 day conference in the heart of Paris offers the opportunity to understand the latest technical developments in measurement, explore industrial challenges and develop solutions that will enhance innovation and performance through a varied conference programme, an exhibition and technical site visits.

All physical and chemical quantities and all industrial fields are concerned.

The full programme is now available, registrations are opened, still some stands on the exhibition ... and time to book !!
